News

SFC – filed a lawsuit against Vizio

- It is against Vizio's TV products and it is an GPL2.0/LGPL-2.1 enforcement.
 - Linux kernel, alsa-utils, bash, awk, busybox, ...
- Software Freedom Conservancy analyzed the TVs and concluded that not only was Vizio not providing the source code and technical information that copyleft licenses require, Vizio was not even informing its customers about copylefted software and the rights it gives them as consumers.
- Interesting is that Software Freedom Conservancy is the plaintiff but not the copyright holder. SFC hopes to demonstrate that it's not just the copyright holders, but also the receivers of the licensed code who are entitled to rights
- The complaint is available here:
